Charting a Course Toward Financial Independence

Adams Wealth Management

Do you like the Dallas Cowboys? How about a winning team? {Insert sarcasm} Either way, I think we can all agree that the most important position on the field is the quarterback because he brings a team of people together to implement a strategy that will reach a common goal ... a completed pass, a touchdown, a victory, play-off advancement and, finally, the Super Bowl. Adams Wealth Management (AWM) is like a quarterback – a financial quarterback who understands and coordinates all aspects of its clients' financial lives in an effort to lead them on a course toward financial independence. The firm also seeks to address a wide range of questions and concerns many clients often wonder about:

- At what age can I retire?
- How much should I save each month to pursue my short and long-term goals?
- Is my portfolio sufficiently diversified?
- What tax-planning strategies are available to me?
- What types of insurance do I need to safeguard my family?

Adams Wealth Management specializes in holistic financial planning – a written financial road map that takes into account everything in the client's life from investments, insurance and educational goals to health, family and other legacy, retirement and estate planning needs. As Warren Buffett once said, "Someone is sitting in

It can help you see the big picture, set short and long-term goals, make sound financial decisions and stay on track. After all, the decisions you make today have the potential to impact your life 10-15 years down the road.
