

FINANCIAL TIMES NEWSPAPER RANKS PINKERTON RETIREMENT SPECIALISTS AS THE #1 FINANCIAL ADVISOR IN THE INLAND NORTHWEST

APRIL 4, 2015

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho—As published in the March 25, 2015 issue of Financial Times newspaper, Dan Pinkerton of Pinkerton Retirement Specialists has been named to the prestigious list of Top 400 Advisors in the United States for 2015. Pinkerton is the only advisor for the Inland Northwest Region.

This distinction makes Pinkerton the only advisor for the Inland Northwest named to the Top 400. The elite professionals on this list were carefully evaluated based on the following areas of consideration: assets under management, asset growth, years of experience, industry certification, Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) compliance record and online accessibility. Advisors did not pay to be part of this ranking, nor is the ranking indicative of advisor's future performance.

"To make Financial Times' Top 400 is truly an honor," Pinkerton said. "We have an exceptional team here that makes these awards possible."

To be considered for the Top 400 list, advisors must have a minimum of $200 million in assets under management (AUM) and 10 years of experience. This narrowed down the group of qualified advisors in the United States to around 1,500. From there the Financial Times team used a combination of brokerage data, survey responses from advisors and their own research to score the candidates.
